

Drexler Drivetrain GmbH

Professional Reference

Mr Andro Grünberger, born on 13 February 1989, was employed as a draughtsman in our company from 16 September 2013 to 31 August 2014. Drexler Drivetrain is an innovative, internationally active company with many years of experience. We specialise in the development and design of new drive solutions and the components associated with that, and also in the continuous improvement of existing drive and chassis components.

Mr Grünberger's area of responsibility comprised in detail:

- the creation of designs and new or variation construction in accordance with guidelines, taking account of aspects related to function and production technology as well as profitability considerations, including the implementation and dimensioning of designs using CAD systems
- automations in the form of programme-controlled 3D parts and their automated transfer to printable production drawings
- carrying out design calculations
- independent installation spaces inspections and subsequent design
- defining guidelines for detailed design
- selection of materials according to the construction type and material (welded and/or cast construction)
- using DIN and factory standard parts
- independent production of single-part drawings (production or workshop drawings) stating quantities, tolerances, fits, signs of machining finish degree (surface quality)
- preparing component drawings with parts lists, considering factory and DIN standards and taking account of families of parts (parts for reuse)
- independent communication with customers and suppliers
- inspecting production drawings for correctness of dimensions, specification of signs of machining finish degree and adherence to standards
- preparation of reports (e.g. continuous operation), instructions for use and functional descriptions

Mr Grünberger familiarised himself quickly with the responsibilities allocated to him. He pursued the agreed objectives effectively and successfully. Mr Grünberger has solid and extensive expert knowledge, which he successfully applied in managing his tasks. He was very reliable and his work style was always characterised by careful planning and a systematic approach. The quality of his work results fully complied with the standards set for him. We have come to know him as a resilient member of staff who confidently manages his tasks even in difficult work conditions. Building on this, he developed good design and construction solutions and concepts, which he aligned with foresight to project requirements.

Mr Grünberger completed his tasks to our utmost satisfaction and met our expectations in every respect.

His conduct towards his supervisors, co-workers and customers was cooperative and always impeccable.

Mr Grünberger is leaving the company at his own request. We regret losing a committed member of staff and wish him continued success for his future career and all the best for his personal life.
